WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. George Morley went to work at the home of Planter, a rich man. When his father loses all his property—a livery business, a horse and a house—George becomes a part of the job acts as a room to Sylvia Planter when she comes to the city. Sylvia is a very beautiful girl, and George is very handsome. George kisses her, telling her that he loves her. She drives him to her place and George threatens her brother, who goes to horsewhip him, but in a fair fight. He seeks an education at Princeton, then he goes to a tutor, gets a place on the football team and aids his college to win from Harvard. He has determined that Sylvia Planter shall marry him and meets her several times, each time seemingly winning the breach between them. But he continues in the determination. Betty Allison is very kind to George, and at her home he meets her friend, Sylvia, which is embarrassing.

Back in the little study Bailey expressed his doubt. "Elo may do it now, but later—"

"Remember you're not going," George said. "Mrs. Bailey cried."

She patted his hand, while Bailey looked on with his old expression of doubt and disapproval. When Mrs. Bailey had left, George told the state of the situation to Bailey, asking his opinion.

"It's hard to form one," Bailey admitted. "He's always puzzled me. Would it surprise you if I said I think he at least has grand ideas?"

"Oh, come, sir. You can't make an ideal expression of the brotherhood of man. Far better that all men should be suspicious of each other."

Bailey drew noisily at his nose. "You often please you to misunderstand," he said. "Wendell, I fancy, would take Allen's theories and make something more practical of them."

Understand I am a pacifist—thoughtful. It cannot be conceived in a healthy brain. But when a fact rises up before you'd better face it. Wendell probably does. The Allen probably don't—don't realize that we must win this war as the only alternative to the world being of an automatic foot that would crush social progress like a serpent, that would boot back time, breaking down the peace of the world."

"After admitting that," George asked, "you can still tell me that I ought to accept the point of view of your rotten, illegal Socialists?"

"Even in this war," Bailey confessed, "most socialists are pacifists. No, they're not an elastic crowd, but among the crowd of the world of the land, leading an unthinking, portion of the proletariat, will permit them to carry on their work in spite of themselves."

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

SILKY SEES A HEAD IN THE OPEN WINDOW. Tinker Bob was very tired and was soon asleep in the Magic Basket, which hung by the tree. He had first seen in the jungle land, Silky, the excitable monkey, was not sleepy in the least for he had seen the strangest thing in the world to him, and couldn't get it out of his mind. What it was he did not know, but he thought if there were any other creatures like that in the jungle he wanted to get back to the forest at once. My, what if that fellow should step on the King, there would be nothing left of him, and then he, the poor monkey, would be left in the midst of the jungle alone.

He turned over and over again trying to find a place that would seem easy to him for he wanted to go to sleep and forget this terrible fellow. He opened the window of the Magic Basket to take one last look outside and see if everything was safe. It was dark and still, oh so still, that he was even afraid of the stillness and drew his head inside quickly.

After a while sleep came along for the silly man, while the head of the jungle as he goes everywhere, and the silly monkey became motionless in slumber.

The jungle is not like the forests of the land where Tinker Bob lived. Every creature seems to be waiting early in the night for every other creature to move first. But when the movement starts the jungle land becomes alive with all manner of creeping and crawling things.

Silky had gone to sleep before the folks of the jungle started their movements, and it was a good thing he had or he might have been frightened to death. And as it was he was awakened in the middle of the night by a hissing sound that seemed to be very near. He opened his eyes but could see nothing. He thought that it must have been a dream for nothing could get into the Magic Basket hanging up in a tree.

Presently he heard the hissing sound again, and this time he was sure that he had not been dreaming, for looking up he saw the head of a great serpent appearing in the window. He had not closed after looking out. The first thing he thought about was why he hadn't closed that window. Then he wondered how a serpent could get up in such a tree, and then there were so many thoughts that he couldn't tell which one to think first. The next thing he did was to shake Tinker Bob roughly.

When the King awoke he saw the head thrust into the window. He too wondered how the serpent had climbed the tree. But there was no time to think for this fellow showed fight. He was big enough to swallow a dozen serpents like those in the great forest. So Tinker Bob spoke to him, for he was not afraid.

Dinner Stories

A country schoolmarm was examining her pupils for the benefit of the nervously and did fairly well until the teacher asked the question, "Who wrote Hamlet?" There was a lull, of exhaustion and no one answered. She asked again, and this time a bit more sternly: "Who wrote Hamlet?"

"Little Johnny Jones piped up defensively, "Please, teacher, I didn't."

"Ha, ha!" Director Blank chuckled aloud. "The little Skeelsicks! I'll bet he did."

The editor of the Smalltown Bugle, like many of his brethren, experiences considerable difficulty in persuading his subscribers to come forward, from time to time, with the annual subscription price.

"If it is agreeable to you," he wrote to one hardened delinquent, "I will accept two bushels of corn in payment for the amount you owe me."

"I regret to say," responded Farmer Brown, in due course, "that in feeding my stock I have used all the corn I raised."

"Dear Mr. Brown," began the next letter of the series, "inasmuch as you have used all your corn, I presume you have a large supply of corn cobs on hand, and I would be glad to accept a load thereof in payment of the amount due from you, as I can use them in place of kindling wood."

"Mr. Editor," replied the farmer, by the next mail, "your letter has been received and contents noted. What I want to know is this—what in Sam Hill do you think I'd want with your paper if I had a supply of cobs to use in kindling fires?"

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

RECIPES FOR THE DAY

Vegetable Chowder—One-half pound dried lima beans, one pound carrots, a little fat, one-half onion, one tablespoon flour (may be omitted), two cups milk, pepper and salt.

Soak beans over night, cook slowly until tender. Brown the sliced onions in the fat, add this and diced carrots to the beans and cook slowly 20 to 30 minutes. The flour, blended with the milk, may be added the last 10 minutes.

Corn Chowder—One can corn, one cup salt pork, cut in cubes; one cup tomatoes, one-half cup onion, salt and pepper, three cups water, two cups milk, one tablespoon butter or drippings, one tablespoon flour, one-half cup cracker crumbs.

Cook salt pork in frying pan five minutes; add onion and cook until yellow. Parboil potatoes five minutes; add to onion with corn and water; cook 20 minutes. Thicken milk with butter or drippings and flour; cook together. Combine mixtures; add cracker crumbs and seasonings and serve.

Succotash may be substituted for corn.

Indian Pudding—One quart milk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, two eggs, one-half cup flour, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup cornmeal, one cup suet (chopped fine). Put two-thirds of milk in double boiler. Mix flour and meal with balance of milk and add the boiling milk, stirring constantly. When thick take from the fire and add balance. Bake in slow even in greased pan for two hours.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

A MEATLESS DIET

If a man or woman intends to reduce, one excellent way might be to go on a meatless diet for a while. It cannot possibly do any harm, and it can possibly do a lot of good. For one thing meat is very fattening.

Of course there are many people who are ordered on a meatless diet by their doctors. I have never yet known a case that did not thrive on it. A thin person can go on a meatless diet and get fat by including concentrated foods such as nuts and cream. A fat person can go on a meatless diet and reduce by being moderately careful not to indulge in too many sweets and rich dishes.

Here are some suggestions for meatless menus:

Grapefruit cocktail
Chestnut soup
Spaghetti croquettes
Potatoes
Scalloped mushrooms
Indian pudding
Coffee
Oysters

Cream of asparagus soup
Fruit nut cutlets
Boiled rice
Banana and walnut salad
Cheese straws
Ice cream

Here are two more suggestions: Creamed fish would serve instead of meat as the main course, and if you were reducing, the fish could be boiled and would be less fattening. The logical substitutes for meat are fish, nuts and eggs, since all of these can be made sufficiently sustaining so that the absence of meat is not felt.

Most doctors will agree that it is a good thing now and then to give the digestion a rest, and one way of doing so is to eliminate meat, which takes longer to digest than any other food. In any case it will not hurt you to experiment a little with yourself.

Anxious—Your old fashioned mantlepiece could be a great asset to the room, instead of spoiling it as you seem to think it does. You can dignify the whole room if you keep this mantle almost plain except for a couple of brass candlesticks in which there should be real candles.

These can be bought at the brass shops at a small sum and imitate the old colonial ones so well that they look as if they had been smoothed by a century of polishing. If you feel that you should have something more, add a group of small volumes in the center of the shelf. Any more than six or eight of these will spoil the effect.

Discouraged—Since you are 15 pounds overweight even though you are avoiding starchy foods, you should make a more careful study of your requirements. You may be eating too much of other foods that are fattening. If you send me a letter with a stamped addressed envelope I shall be glad to mail you a chart that will guide you in your selection of foods.

Plan Repairs at Court House

Repairs are to be made to the Rock county court house this spring as the result of orders now being placed by the county board building committee. The supervisors at their recent meeting ordered alterations and improvements to be supervised by the committee composed of M. L. Paulsen, J. A. Paul, W. S. Perigo and M. P. Richardson.

The entire second floor is to be repainted. New floors and a steel ceiling are to be placed in the basement of the county agent and the road engineering department. Changes are to be made in the record vaults of the county court.

The first step in the proposed consolidation of Rock, Walworth, and Green counties for a tubercular sanatorium will be taken next week, according to W. S. Perigo, committee member. A conference is to be held Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

"Use Doan's," Say These Janesville Folks:

REUBEN BICKLE, car inspector, 292 Race St., says: "I was feeling weak and run down and my kidneys caused me a lot of annoyance. The secretions passed too frequently and with a burning sensation. My back ached so I could hardly turn in bed. When I took cold, I was always worse and my head would whirl around with dizziness. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. So I got two boxes at Sherr's Drug Store. After using them, I felt like a different man. My kidneys were regulated and the backaches left me entirely."

J. T. Waggoner, prop. of furniture store, 21 S. River St., says: "I took cold and it settled on my kidneys and my bladder became inflamed. The kidney secretions passed too often. My back was weak and at times was very painful. A member of my family suggested Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box and they helped me from the first. When I had finished the second box, I was as well as ever. The trouble disappeared entirely and I am in good health today."

Blues Lose to Beloit, 13 to 9, in Poorly Played Game

CITIES DIVIDE ON SEASON'S HONORS WITH ROUGH GAME

With both teams playing a sloppy game and Beloit showing greater flashes of unity, Janesville high dropped to the Gateway city at the college gym Saturday night to a 13 to 9 result. Basketball honors between the two cities are 50-50 for the 1921-22 season. It was the third loss for Janesville in 11 contests.

The old rivalry between the two teams boiled over in every stage of the game, making it raggedly rough and forcing Referee Victor Hemmings to call a total of 17 personal fouls. While both squads were guilty of charging fouls, Beloit came more consistently under the eye of the referee, their star Bert being put out on four.

Battle Speedy

Descriptive of the large amount of body work in the game, the first half time it stood 6 to 3 in favor of the Blues. Both sides had dozens of chances at the basket but the speed with which the battle moved made careful shooting almost impossible.

Janesville was defeated before she went onto the floor. The half-hearted spirit which has marked the Blues was again evident among the players as they moved to the line city. It was "We ought to win! I wonder if we will?"

Not until within a few minutes of the close of combat did the Blues come out with their usual real fight. They made a marvelous stab at victory but they were in the "death-rattle" and lacked steadiness.

Series of Scrambles

That game, even style that marked the battle, was stirring and admirable combat, was absent Saturday. Not more than three times did either team get down a short passing or regular formation. It was a series of scrambles with as many as five and six men piled in a heap over the ball at one time.

Guarding was close. Both teams played their man and went for the ball only when it was in their immediate vicinity. Bert and Deimler led the Beloit attack of attacking themselves to Janesville while Gilbertson grabbed the snore and jumped in twice. The Blues stuck to their men just as tightly but were outwitted away by belts.

Score Starts Close

The battle opened with Beloit scoring a free throw on a gift through Scrimmage. The Blues had a number of shots at the basket but went wide of the ring. The initial quarter ended with a 1-0 count.

In a dash of brilliance, Johnny Austin, aged a field goal from the edge of the foul line at the opening of the second quarter and put the Blues in the lead 2 to 1—the only time they had the lead. From Dickinson, Beloit passed to Gilbertson and again assumed mastery of the game, 3 to 2. Janesville untied and Beloit snatched the free throw which they followed by taking the lead 4 to 2. Beloit passed to Gilbertson and again assumed mastery of the game, 3 to 2. Janesville untied and Beloit snatched the free throw which they followed by taking the lead 4 to 2. Beloit passed to Gilbertson and again assumed mastery of the game, 3 to 2. Janesville untied and Beloit snatched the free throw which they followed by taking the lead 4 to 2.

"Dick" Gets Basket

As the latter half opened, Dickinson came through as the echo of the whistle, died away and the Blues scored to 6-4. Scrimmage decided to take a little stroll and on the technical foul, Beloit chalked up another point which they made more certain with a three-point shot on short range. With the score 7 to 4, Beloit was given the game on a technical foul and Dickinson and Garrison 2 to 1 on the floor.

A technical foul at Beloit occurred on the last three minutes. Beloit finally sent the ball down the floor in a close exhibition to beat the Blues at 13 to 9.

Blues Start Flaring

During the fourth quarter, Janesville carried the ball into her territory far more often than the Blues, at a desperate effort at the basket. A field goal by Gilbertson did not carry but only made them battle the harder. Austin—who showed a pretty scrappy game which was handicapped by his lightheadedness—caused a free throw just before Dick was sent in for fouling. Dickinson got his dukes on the ball and after dribbling it the length of the floor, passed it and brought the score to 12-8. A free throw by Dickinson ended the contest at 13-9.

With long shots and anything to put the ball in the neighborhood of the basket, the game closed in a series of rushing scraps.

Breakout free throws were missed by Janesville to win—11 in all.

The lineup and score:

Low scores featured the opening games of the church basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. With a dash, the Madison team doubled the score on St. Peter's, winning 12 to 6. St. Patrick's, last year's league winners, started the season with a loss to St. Mary's by a count of 8 to 6.

A meeting of managers and team captains will be held at the "Y" at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Tanks Halted by Delavan, 27-22

Holding their own until the last quarter and then dropping back, the local tank corps lost to the Delavan Big Five in the fastest game of the season at the armory here, 27 to 22. The result showed the improvement of the militiamen over their recent record by Delavan, 59 to 11.

Outweighed 20 pounds to the man, the tanks played a whirlwind of a game. The score ran almost even until the beginning of the last quarter, when with the count, 15 to 15, Delavan caged a brilliant shot from center.

Lawrence Whips Milton, 27 to 9

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Milton—Lawrence administered a sound thrashing to Milton here Saturday night, 27 to 9, before a homecoming crowd that included many alumni of the local college and their families. The Miltonites, who had held Lawrence to a 31-30 score at Appleton last month, showed a decided reversal of form in the return contest, much to the disappointment of the old "grabs" who had returned with the hope of seeing their alma mater take the measure of the upstate team.

Ziebel, right forward for the visitors was the individual star, with seven field goals and one free throw to his credit. G. Sayre, with two baskets, was high scorer for Milton. Lawrence, who made five field goals against Lawrence in the former game, was ineligible to play Saturday night. R. Sayre, another regular, was out of the lineup because of an injured leg.

MILTON HIGH NOSES OUT WHITEWATER, 15-13

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Whitewater—Milton Union high school nosed out Whitewater City 15 to 13. Union decidedly outclassed the local boys in teamwork, but poor shooting by the visitors kept the score close.

Union's second team won a preliminary game from the Whitewater records by a score of 12 to 8.

Next Fights Here Set by Elks for March 9

The next card of the Janesville Elks' Athletic club will be staged at the Coliseum rink here Mar. 9. This was decided by the board of directors at a meeting held in the Elks' lodge rooms Sunday afternoon.

While it is planned to get fighters at lower rates than have been paid in the past, the high quality of show will not be sacrificed in any manner. Fans are assured, it is declared, of shows that will continue to keep Janesville in the limelight as the best fight club in Wisconsin outside of Milwaukee.

INDOOR SKATE MEET GOES TO MILWAUKEE

Chicago—The dates for the international amateur indoor ice skating championships, awarded to Milwaukee, were set for March 6, 7 and 8. All speed skaters from the United States and Canada are expected to compete, including William Steinmetz, Chicago; Roy McWhirter, Chicago; Joe Moore, Canadian champion; Charles Jewtreau, Lake Placid, N. Y.; and Charles Gordon, St. John, N. Y.

Riley on Trail of Jack Keating

BY FRANK MCCLAIR

"If I can get on the next card of the Janesville club against Jack Keating, I'll beat him."

It is Charlie Riley speaking; the local chap who dropped before Keating in his maiden appearance in the local ring. Mr. Riley, former matchmaker of the local club, is using his experience in matchmaking for himself.

Will Draw

"I think I would draw a good crowd if they would let me go on," he continued. "I can beat that fellow any time. Give me a chance and I'll come back strong."

There is a tone of sincerity in Riley's voice. He believes in himself this time, which, unfortunately for him, he did not when he went into the ring here last month.

ILLINOI DIAMOND STARS NAME THEIR BATS

Urbana, Ill.—University of Illinois diamond stars, like the stars of the major leagues, will have bats named after them this season, according to Coach Carl Lundgren, former major league pitcher.
